

Summary of Changes to the Existing Workforce Training Act
(Act 791 of 1995, as amended)

- Raises the instructional hour rate from $50 to $60.
- Requires that 50% of companies completing each course must be eligible companies.
- Reduces the instructional hour rate for safety training from $50 to $35.
- Requires that a computer-related business that is eligible to take advantage of EWTP derive at least 75% of their revenue from out-of-state sales. (Changed from 60% to 75%, as in all other Department of Economic Development incentives.)
- Changes reference from Standard Industrial Classification (SIC) to North American Industry Classification System (NAICS). The same group of manufacturers is being addressed. The change from SIC to NAICS is going on nationally and is being driven by the federal government to transition to a system that is more detailed and production oriented for North American businesses.
